We held the rehearsal dinner at the Yellow Brick Toad in Lambertville, NJ. We scoured the area to find this place. It's a homey type inn that is classy yet informal and unpretentious. We and Jennifer's father sampled the place in advance and I had one of the best dinners of my life. We must have been there two hours. Hugh shared some of his WWII experiences and we all left in very good spirits.

The wedding took place at St Andrews Episcopal church in Lambertville, Father Townley presiding. We attended the church almost every Sunday for a year prior to the wedding. Both kids were baptized in the church. Afterwards we attended once per month. Then we went only on the holy days. Finally we stopped going. That sounds worse than it is. We live an hour's drive away. We benefitted greatly from the experience.

Finally, I'm rich. Her family is British, they own a country estate with classic cars AND she has horses.

Jim, did I tell you? She has horses...
Do you know what that means?
